

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Wit Pietrzak Breaking up the language: the struggle with(in) modernity in J.H. Prynne's Biting the Air	5
Dominika Oramus Two exercises in consilience: Annie Dillard and Kurt Vonnegut on the Galapagos Archipelago as the archetypal Darwinian setting	19
Joanna Chojnowska "It came up all the time, like a fixation": the ubiquity of racially-based prejudice as presented in Danzy Senna's Caucasia	31
Kamil Michta The gardening fallacy: J.M. Coetzee's Michael K as a parody of Voltaire's Candide	41
Joanna Jodłowska Aldous Huxley's early novels: an unfolding dialogue about pain	51
Debbie Lelekis "Pretty maids all in a row": power and the female child in Frances Hodgson Burnett's The Secret Garden	63
Almas Khan Heart of Darkness : piercing the silence	73
Anna Budziak Parodic and post-classic, British Decadent Aestheticism re-approached	83
Lucyna Krawczyk-Żywko The Strange Case of Mr. Hyde : a Victorian villain and a Victorian detective revisited	95
Małgorzata Łuczyńska-Hołodys "Darkling I listen": melancholia, self and creativity in Romantic nightingale poems	105
Klaudia Łączyńska From masque to masquerade: monarchy and art in Andrew Marvell's poems	115
Abhishek Sarkar Thomas Dekker and the spectre of underworld jargon	129